This is to a great extent due to the liberality and wisdom of our government in securing to inventors by patents a protection for their inventions, thereby giving them an ample reward for the perseverance and labor, which they employ in making and perfecting the same. But, at the same time, the United States are careful that patents are only granted to those, who really deserve them. Only an inventor is entitled to a patent, one who has originated and produced a new or improved machine or article of manufacture or an improvement in the art of producing useful things, or a novel composition for useful purposes. A mere imitator, and even he, who applies only mechanical skill to the amelioration of existing things,...
